

Peter Parnes ▶ 3D Printing

16.07.2013

Today's 3Dexperiment. Lithopanes of my son. The right one got a bit screwed up but the left one looks ok. 20 layers at 0.06.

Those look way better than the one I did. What material did you print with?

0.06 mm layer thickness. This is printed with PLA at 225 degrees on an Ultimaker. Impressive machine.
